

In spring, the European climate sees temperatures soften the sun becoming more and more present. But there are important differences between Northern Europe and Mediterranean coasts and between the west which are influenced by ocean and is undergoing a continental climate marked well. The rains are nearly ubiquitous in this season and the snow continues in the north and in the mountains. The best destinations in Europe are essentially on the edge of the Mediterranean, enjoying a sunny, like southern Italy, Andalusia, Portugal, and gradually as the spring moves, islands such as Cyprus, Crete, Malta, and Corsica particularly beautiful in May. Avoid northern Europe, Scandinavia is still dark and cold until April. Some Eastern European countries such as Croatia and Hungary are becoming pleasant in May, and Austria, which is sunny and dry, like Scotland, then flowering and radiant.

In summer, Europe has a privileged climate throughout its country: it is in all cases during the hottest and sunniest, and most favorable for visiting the old continent. The countries of the far north are experiencing long days, the United Kingdom enjoys mild temperatures and Eastern European countries are taking advantage of beautiful bright days in the month of June. In July, even Iceland is conducive to tourism, and all the Mediterranean regions are beginning to be overrun with tourists coming from everywhere to enjoy the beach. In August, the heat wave swept the south of Spain, Italy and Greece, this will not be the best time to explore these areas. Know that in addition to prices soaring everywhere in Europe at that time very popular among tourists worldwide.

In fall harvest season and fruit harvest, the vegetation is rich colors in many regions, but is accompanied by a gradual decrease in temperature and precipitation as well as many more winds and a lower luminosity. The fact remains that the early fall is very conducive for visiting countries like Greece or Portugal, yet sunny, with warm temperatures, and the Mediterranean islands in October are always very pleasant. Sicily and the Balearic Islands can accommodate you until November. Avoid the other hand the whole northern part of Europe that comes early in winter and displays temperatures than fresh and a net deficit of sun and light.

In winter, rain, snow, cold and humidity gradually gaining the whole of Europe. This is the worst time to travel on the European continent, unless you are fans of winter sports resorts in the Pyrenees or Alps welcome you pleasantly with the crowd if you prefer less situated in January after the holidays year-end but before the winter holidays. In February, the countries of southern Europe as warmer temperatures found and the vegetation begins to bloom in some places. Avoid any manner throughout the northern part where the cold night and reign supreme.

In Europe, the cold, the rain, the low temperatures and short sunny periods do not encourage travelling. The better destinations include the ski resorts in the Alps and the Pyrenees (France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria and Spain) or for those who feel the cold more Andalusia still has reasonable sunshine.

In Asia the season is still favourable for visitors! Thailand, Vietnam, southern China (the north however can still be icy at this time), Burma and India are still sunny with reasonable temperatures and less tourists during January.

In Africa the north is still cool in January, good for discovering the Sahara but not recommended for those wishing to visit the beaches. Towards the south, in Kenya, Tanzania or South Africa, the high season is starting but with a risk of excessive heat on the east coast.

In America, we would suggest Central America, South America and the Caribbean (for example: Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela, Argentina and Chile). The U.S. deserts are still pleasant at this time before the scorching summer heat arrives.

To be avoided:

Indonesia, the Seychelles and Polynesia where it is still the rainy season and Madagascar, Reunion and Mauritius where there is a high risk of cyclones.

The best travel destinations in January:

In this table are the best travel destinations for the month of January. The global note of each has been uniquely calculated according to climate data, rated according to the most sunshine and least rainy days but doesn't take into account local touristic specifics such as festivals, events etc that could make travel here especially interesting at this time.
